In commemoration of "Armistice," the members of the Blairmore Legion, B.E.S.L., will hold a smoker in their club rooms on Tuesday evening from 8 o'clock.

The marriage of Lady Alice Montagu-Douglas-Scott to the Duke of Gloucester, third son of King George, took place at Buckingham Palace chapel on Wednesday morning.

Russell T. Kelly, head of a national advertising agency, states: From an advertising standpoint, weekly newspapers have been of inestimable value to local merchants—they have been the means of keeping business where in my opinion it rightly belongs—in the local stores. If both the local newspaper and the local merchant are to succeed, the slogan should be "United we stick, divided we're stuck." Business is getting better. Local newspapers have helped and can continue to help.

Folks! Don't miss this opportunity of having a good time. Attend the annual Armistice Ball at the Columbus hall on Monday evening, November 11th. Streamers, balloons, confetti.

Plans are being made for a meeting of the original members of the 32nd Battalion, C.E.F., with the ultimate object of holding a reunion during the winter. Any information regarding the matter may be had from J. Easton, 906 Hoskin Avenue, Morse Place, Manitoba.

If all the asylum occupants of the world were massed together for a conference, five million chances to one they could not conceive anything siller than that embodied in a resolution passed by the Blairmore town council to be cabled to Emperor Haile Selassie at a cost of upwards of $30 of ratepayers' money. Fortunately, it didn't get far.

BUSINESS ON MEND IN PASS

The Cranbrook Courier states: There seems to have been a material pick-up in business along the Crow's Nest Pass during the past summer, especially in the eastern section. More activity is apparent around Michel and Natal, and also at McGillivray. Of course, some of this extra business is due to the closing of the collieries at Corbin, which diverted trade to the other points. A hopeful indication is that considerable coke is being shipped from McGillivray to the Bunker Hill and Sullivan smelters at Bradley, near Kellogg, Idaho.

Another little industry noticed at McGillivray is the taking out of timber for supplying a box factory at Calgary. The timber is brought a considerable distance by flume to the railway, and there hoisted and loaded by machinery. This appears to be a prosperous little concern and gives employment to quite a good sized crew.

At Coleman there is an air of prosperity, due largely to the fact that the Consolidated Company have the controlling interest in the collieries there. A long string of coke ovens are in operation and the product is shipped to the company's smelter at Trail. The company's plant at Kimberley is also a large user of coal, and many carloads are sent there each month.

At Blairmore, the Greenhill colliery is mining and shipping quite a large amount of coal this fall. This is an excellent domestic coal, and there is a wide demand for it, both in the prairie provinces and British Columbia.

In the farming communities along the line the season has been favorable for good crops, and one sees well-filled barns and many large hay stacks as he travels along the railway. The different ranges have also been good, and horses and cattle will go into the winter sleek and fat.

A resident of Black Diamond was found guilty of shooting a deer out of season. The magistrate fined him $30 and costs and ordered the carcass confiscated, to be cut up and distributed to needy families. The hunter's defence was that the deer wandered onto his farm on three legs, the other having been injured, and that he shot it to put it out of misery.

B.E.S.L. TO BROADCAST

In commemoration of Remembrance Day, a national broadcast will be made on Monday, November the 11th, 9 to 10 p.m. eastern standard time, over the coast to coast network of the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission, as follows:

9.00, Montreal, The Canadian Radio Commission, in co-operation with the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League, presents a programme.

9.01—Choir, "O Canada," two verses.

9.03—In presenting this program, the Canadian Legion desires to acknowledge with grateful thanks the assistance and courtesy of the contributing artists and the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission. Programme opens from Montreal with the singing of "O Canada" by the choir of St. George's church, Montreal, under direction of John J. Westersed; continuing with Kipling's Recessional, "Let Us Forget." St. John N.B., 9.08—From the Port of St. John we re-enact an echo of 1916, the departure of a troop ship.

Westward to the Prairies—Regina, 9.19. "Glad to take our part in this national broadcast, and have in the studio the band of the First Regina Rifles Regiment, playing by kind permission of Lieut.-Colonel T. H. Hewitt, M.C., commanding, and officers. The band will be conducted by Bandmaster Phillip Maah, and will be heard first in the march "Old Comrades," and then in the regimental march of the 28th Northwest Battalion C.E.F. Westward to the Foot-hills—"Carry on Calgary."

Calgary, 9.19—From Calgary we are pleased to introduce Miss Jessie Cadman, soprano, who will sing O'Hara's "There is no Death." Now to the Pacific—"Go ahead, Vancouver."

Vancouver, 9.24-17—From Vancouver we present the Lions Glee Club in two numbers, first "The Beleaguere" by Sullivan, followed by "Peace Be Unto You" by Trowbridge.

Toronto, 9.29-37—From Christie Street Hospital we shall bring you a few minutes in the lives of men who, even at this time, are bearing the marks of war. Acknowledging co-operation of the Department of Pensions and National Health, Dr. C. McManis, district administrator, and the Rev. Sydney Lambert. Westward once more, to Winnipeg:

Winnipeg, 9.36-12—Winnipeg speaking, introducing the band of the Manitoba Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion, under the baton of Robert Cramp, in Ketelby's "Elegy." We take you next on to Ottawa, where the Dominion president will be waiting with a Remembrance Day message.

Ottawa, 9.41-32—Ottawa calling the Dominion of Canada! Privileged to introduce Brigadier-General Alex. Ross, Dominion president of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League. It is fitting that from Ottawa, the capital of Canada, this programme should end with a commemoration of those who at the call of King and Country left all that was dear to them, endured hardships, faced dangers and finally passed out of the sight of men by the path of duty and self-sacrifice, giving up their own lives that others might live in freedom. In the brief commemoration which follows, the choir will be under the direction of H. Bramwell Bailey. The boy soloist will be Kenneth Ward. The Bugle Calls will be sounded by Bugle Major May, M.M., of the Cameron Highlanders of Ottawa, by kind permission of Lieut.-Colonel G. S. McFarlane, M.C., commanding. The scriptural passage and poem will be spoken by Leslie Chance. After the sounding of the "Last Post," a silence will be kept for a brief space. Choir, "The Lord's Prayer," to Tebakhowsky setting. Leslie Chance: "They shall grow

BLAIRMORE AGAIN IN THE LIMELIGHT

Like a flash, Blairmore early this week was swept into prominence in radio and press through the passing of the following resolution by the town council:

"Haile Selassie, Emperor of Ethiopia, Addis Ababa:
"Mayor and council convey best wishes for success over Mussolini, the oppressor of the Italian people and war-monger.

"We pray for your victory which will help to free the Italian people and the world. Blairmore people salute you.

(Signed) Mayor Knight."

The above resolution, probably drafted by someone not connected with the council, was moved by Councillor Pagnucco, who himself is a native of Italy. While the motion was passed at Monday night's meeting of the council, which was not fully attended, it was rescinded at a later meeting, thus saving about thirty-one dollars to the town's coffers. Mayor Knight and Councillors Morgan, Krkosky and Pagnucco were present at Monday's meeting, Councillors Packer, Olson and Aschacher being unable to be present.

It is thought possible that Haile Selassie will manage to pull through without Blairmore's assistance or interference. As a matter of fact, Blairmore's action was of such importance that it should have been handled through the League of Nations.

not old as we that are left grow old: Age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn: At the going down of the sun, and in the morning, we will remember them."—Binyon.

"Reveille" by Bugle Major Day.

Pause.

Ottawa, 9.56-16—Kenneth Ward and Choir:

"I vow to thee, my country, all earthly things above
Entire and whole and perfect, the service of my love:

The love that asks no question, the love that stands the test,
That lays upon the altar the dearest and the best;

The love that never falters, the love that pays the price;
The love that makes undaunted the final sacrifice."

Words of above by Cecil Spring Rice; music by Gustav Holst.

Increase in Insanity

One Out of Every 300-Of Population In Mental Institutions

Canadian school children should be told in their classrooms of the importance of selecting a mate who is physically fit and in whose family there is no history of insanity. Dr. Harvie Claire, superintendent of Homewood sanatorium at Guelph, told a service club in Toronto.

"It is not sufficient to tell adults they should see proposed husbands and wives of their children should be carefully selected," he said. "This should be taught to the children in our schools."

Dr. Claire said 39,000 patients are in Canadian mental institutions, or one person out of every 300 population. The rate of increase in insanity is between four and five per cent a year, he said. Annual cost of caring for mental cases totals $10,000,000.

Debt Adjustment Act

Law Regulating Disposal Of 1935 Saskatchewan Crop
(Hon. T. C. Davis, Attorney-General)
"Reports coming to the Saskatchewan government and representations made to the government indicate that there is a very great deal of doubt in the minds of the people of the province with respect to the law regulating the disposal of crops or the proceeds thereof in the province. Furthermore, there seems to be considerable doubt as to the protection which can be afforded to any person applying to the Debt Adjustment Board in this province."

"In view of this condition, the government thought it well to have the following statement prepared and issued:
"First: In connection with the Debt Adjustment Act and the protection afforded thereunder, let me again repeat, that there is a representative of this Board to be found at the judicial centre of each judicial district in this province. These representatives have employees working under them, so that the facilities of the Board are available in every part of this province. Applications to the Board need not be made in person but a letter seeking information will bring a prompt reply."
"Now with regard to the law respecting disposal of crops, I have requested the Board to state certain particular features:

"First: Doubt has arisen as to whether or not a farmer can be obliged to deliver more than one-third share of his crop, under a share of the mortgage or agreement, irrespective of the terms of the document itself. It is quite clear, that notwithstanding what the lease, mortgage or agreement may state, the farmer is only obliged to deliver one-third share of the crop and he has the privilege from this one-third share of the crop, to pay one year's taxes, and if he produces the tax receipt, then he is only obliged to hand over the difference between the amount of the taxes and one-third share of the crop. The farmer is not obliged to deliver one-half the crop, less a year's taxes. Specific provision is made in the Act, that the farmer is not obliged to deliver more than one-third share of the crop the farmer is obliged to deliver, not exceeding one-third thereof."

"This became the law in 1933, was continued in 1934, and at the last session of the legislature was continued in the year 1935.
"The section of the Act providing for this is to be found in chapter 53 of the 1935 Statutes of Saskatchewan in an Act respecting the Limitation of Civil Rights."

"Second: There have been asked as to the status of a farmer who has agreed to deliver a share of his crop and who fails to deliver the same."

"The law in this regard is as follows: The farmer who is the mortgagor, tenant or purchaser is by law created a trustee in favour of the holder of the mortgage, the owner of the land or, in other words, the other party to the share of crop lease or agreement, in respect of the share of crop which the farmer is obligated to deliver to the owner or other party to the contract; and the share of the owner, vendor or landlord is by law made the absolute property of such person. If the farmer, being the tenant, mortgagor or purchaser, fails to turn over this share of crop to the party entitled thereto, then, of course, he has committed a criminal breach of trust and has violated the provisions of the criminal code in this regard and is subject to prosecution. Prosecutions in cases like this, however, cannot be undertaken in the same way as an ordinary prosecution because the law specifically provides that no prosecution can be instituted against anybody in connection with the failure to deliver share of crop until the consent of the Attorney-General has been first had and obtained, which, of course, means that each prospective prosecution, before being instituted, must be reviewed by the Attorney-General and approved and authorized by him. The whole of this, of course, is subject to the restrictions under the Limitation of Civil Rights Act of the share of crop to one-third or one-half, as the case may be."

"Third: There apparently doubt has arisen as to the rights of the individual to exemptions from seizure, and the Exemptions Act provides clearly what the rights of the debtor are. This Act provides for the exemptions to which a person is entitled, as against seizures under Writs of Execution, and the pertinent paragraphs of this Act are paragraphs 3, 4 and 5, which are as follows:

"3. Grain, flour, vegetables or meat, whether prepared for use or on foot or any of them, sufficient when converted into cash to provide food and fuel for heating purposes for the execution debtor and his family until the next ensuing harvest."

"4. Six horses, oxen or mules, or any six of them, six cows, six sheep, four pigs and fifty domestic fowls besides the animals which the execution debtor may have chosen to keep as necessary food for himself and his family, and food for the same for the months of November, December, January, February, March and April or for such of those months or portions thereof as may follow the date of seizure, provided such seizure is made between the first day of August and the thirtieth day of April next ensuing; or in lieu of the horses, oxen or mules, one tractor, and one motor vehicle which have been in use for not less than one year and does not exceed four hundred dollars in value;

Provided that the exemption of one motor vehicle shall apply only to a person actively engaged in farming operations or a person whose sole occupation is that of a physician or surgeon, veterinary surgeon, drayman or common carrier and who resides in the Province of Saskatchewan;

"The harness necessary for six animals, one wagon, one buggy or democrat, one disc harrow or cultivator, one mower, one breaking plough, one gang plough, one set of harrows, one horse rake, one cream separator, one binder, one set of sleighs and one seed drill."
(To Be Concluded Next Week)

New Ships For The British

Calling Tenders For More Vessels For The Admiralty

Twenty-one ships are comprised in the 1935 naval construction programme, for which the Admiralty, in accordance with normal practice at this time of the year, have begun to call for tenders.

They consist of three cruisers, one flotilla leader, eight destroyers, three submarines, one submarine depot ship, four sloops, and one surveying ship.

Several small vessels are also included in the programme.

It is understood that $50,000,000 is nearly a reliable estimate of the cost of this programme, which is expected to be spread over three years.

Wide prominence has been given by the New York papers to a statement by President Roosevelt reaffirming American adherence to Naval Limitation Treaties, but adding that "only the failure to renew the Treaty, or a denunciation thereof, could change the policy of the United States."

"The United States press is puzzled as to why Mr. Roosevelt should have made this statement."

It is suggested that the president's intention was to dissuade this country from embarking upon an enlarged naval programme.

In regard to the necessity for such a programme, the government will soon have to make up their minds.

British experts have, it is understood, arrived at the conclusion that our naval defences no longer suffice. As the prospects of an agreement under which a general limitation of naval armaments could be arranged are altogether remote, the government will soon have to face the issues which are thereby raised.

Combined naval exercises between warships and aircraft last year demonstrated that there are factors in naval warfare to-day which the fleet at present is not designed to deal with.

What may appear to be revolutionary methods in warship design are possible in contemplation.

A great increase in the fleet air arm and in the number of vessels for carrying seaplanes is quite likely.

The measures needed to combat the new danger will be costly, but the sum required can be raised by a Naval Defence Act as on a previous occasion.

War Shells Discovered

Man Unknowingly Struck Unexploded Shell Twice Without Mischance

While engaged in cleaning out a well at Littleton, Penn., near Dear Lake, England, recently, Mr. A. Williams, a well-sinker, of Easterton, struck his pick against a hard object.

To discover what it was he struck again, and out of the mud protruded a 16-pounder shell. Further investigation revealed a second shell, also in the mud.

The Army authorities were informed, and it was then found that both shells contained explosive, and they had apparently not been fired from a gun.

Had Mr. Williams struck the nose of the shell, there is no doubt it would have exploded with tragic consequences.

A rotter sack that appeared to have contained the shells was also found. The shells had evidently been in the well many years, and it is suggested they were dropped there during the war, when the village was the centre of considerable military activity.

The Bible does not say that Jesus was born in a manger. There are many references to the manger, but none which say that Jesus was actually born there. 2128

Gems Are Worth Money

Cheap Necklace Turns Out To Be Valuable Black Pearls

A string of black pearls, said to be worth $200,000 and to have belonged to the collection of Mary Queen of Scots, is reported to have been bought at Forfar, Angus, for fifty cents by a woman.

This woman, whose name is being kept secret, had no idea of the value of her purchases, and it was only revealed to her, it is stated following a mishap.

It was during a visit to the showrooms of Messrs. Simon Urquhart and Son, in Castle St., Forfar, that she found in an old trunk box what she thought was a string of black beads.

"They were lying at the bottom of the box under a tray," a salesman said, "and the way they glistened attracted her attention. She bought them for fifty cents."

"Shortly afterwards she went to London for a holiday and was wearing them in a hotel when they broke. A man who helped to gather them told her they were worth having restringing."

"What do you mean—that you are going to reverse the usual process when you make your garden next spring?"

"I'm going to plant weed seeds and see if vegetables won't come up."

And here's one in four colors that is very simple to make and can be joined up in a variety of ways to give you an entirely different afghan. A great part of its charm is in the stitch used—some of the small squares are worked out in popcorn. The individual block is small, making it especially good pick-up work. Make it and you will have an afghan that will be admired by all who see it.

In pattern 5456 you will find complete instructions and charts for making the afghan shown; an illustration of it and the stitches needed; material requirements.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

NOVEMBER 10
EZEKIEL TEACHES PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY

Golden text: Each one of us shall give account of himself to God. Romans 14:12.

Lesson: Ezekiel 18:1-22; 33:1-20. Devotional Reading: Psalm 125.

Explanations and Comments

The Prophet's Responsibility, verses 7-9 unto the house of Israel. A watchman's duty is to warn of danger. Ezekiel must hear the word of Jehovah and must proclaim it. He must know that God punishes wickedness, and he must warn the wicked from his way. If he should fail in his duty of warning, the wicked man has to die for his iniquity, but the prophet will be held responsible. If, however, the prophet warns the man, the man falls from guilt in the matter. His was the responsibility, not of obtaining obedience, but of uttering the warning. Compare Paul's words in Acts 18:6 and 20:31.

"In this way Ezekiel met, possibly, the reproaches of his neighbors, who said: 'What business is this of yours anyway? Why don't you let us alone?' I cannot let you alone," answered the prophet. "God has made me your sentinel. I am charged with a lonely responsibility. I cannot be true to my own soul, or to you, unless I sound the alarm. I am not my own vessel. I am God's trumpet, and this is his message" (Gauls Gien Atkin).

God's Unwillingness That Any Should Perish, verses 10, 11. It is useless to repent, some of the watchman's despairing hearers would say: "Our transgressions and our sins are upon us, and we pine away in them; how then can we live?" To such he must make known that God has no pleasure in the death of the wicked; his pleasure lies in their turning from their wickedness and living. "Turn ye, ye from your evil ways; for why will ye die, O house of Israel?"

"Obviously the prophet is not here thinking of natural death, but since in the Old Testament death means the descent into hell, where there is no communion with God, and since in a period like Ezekiel's, death is often associated with violence and misery, it comes naturally to be used for the loss of all that is worth having."

Miss (to new maid): "Now Nora, I always take my bath at 9 every morning."

Nora: "That's right maid, it won't interfere with me a bit. I'm never ready for mine before 10."

Walks, Sits And Lies Down In Middle Of Blazing Fire

The three Hebrews in Bible history made only one spectacular entry into the fiery furnace: Mr. John Bridge-man, of Cape Town, S.A., earns his living by doing it two or three times a week. He has been experimenting with fire for about six months. He dons heavy asbestos clothing, and looking like a deep-sea diver, walks calmly into a blazing fire and lies down. He regularly goes into a fire where a forced draught brings the temperature up to about 1,700 Fahrenheit. He has been in a boiler furnace for two minutes and twenty seconds. Apart from odd areas of scorching when he was experimenting with new gear, he has come out unscathed. Intimate association has given Mr. Bridge-man an affection for fire. "We've bought up a lot of old aeroplane fuelages cheap," he said enthusiastically, "and I am going to do a bit of experimenting with getting dummies out of the blazing cockpit. I'll have to wear a lighter suit, not the big heavy one, because I will have to move pretty quickly."

Illusions Shattered

Eskimos Live In Stone Holes And Prefer Greens To Blubber

Four French scientists on an expedition in Greenland have shattered two more illusions about Eskimos. They declare that the Eskimo prefers broccoli to blubber, and does not live in a snow hut. They also found that the average Eskimo, reputed to be a man of few words, has a larger vocabulary than the average business man and that he laughs more in a month than ordinary people do in a year. Most of the Eskimos, they found, live in homes constructed of stone, bone, and even imported wood, and then cover them over with turf. The scientists estimate that of the 14,000 Eskimos in Greenland, only a few hundred have ever seen snow huts, and still fewer have ever lived in them. Although blubber is still the mainstay of a poor diet, Eskimos in summer cultivate greens, including broccoli, of which they are very fond.

Whether the "Pain" Remedy You Use is SAFE?

Ask Your Doctor and Find Out

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

THE person to ask whether the preparation you or your family are taking for the relief of headaches is SAFE to use regularly is your family doctor. Ask him particularly about "ASPIRIN."

He will tell you that before the discovery of "Aspirin" most "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as bad for the stomach and, often, for the heart. Which is food for thought if you seek quick, safe relief.

Scientists state "Aspirin" among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and the pains of rheumatism, neuritis and neuralgia. And the experience of millions of users has proved it safe for the average person to use regularly. In your own interest remember this.

SYNOPSIS

Nancy Nelson is a sub-deb, a gay, irresponsible girl of nineteen, with no care beyond the choice of her costume for her coming-out party. Suddenly, in the market crash, her indulgent father loses all he had, and his family is faced with the necessity of a simpler method of living. At this juncture a letter is received from an eccentric relative in Colorado, who offers the girl a home on what seems to be impossible conditions.

After much consideration Cousin Columbine's offer is accepted, and Nancy and Jack arrive at Pine Ridge. Nancy set out one afternoon to climb to the top of a hill so as to obtain a view of the surrounding landscape and misses the path Aurora Tubbs had told her to follow. A truck comes along the road, driven by Matthew Adams, and she asks him which way to go. They ascend the hill, look around, and then go on to Cousin Columbine's. There Mark Adam tells Nancy that his brother Luke has broken his leg, and that Jack Nelson has been hired to help out while Luke's leg gets better. With Jack away, Nancy finds that she is lonesome, and having no books to read, the idea of starting a public library at Pine Ridge seems a good one, and Nancy writes home to get her parents to send all the books they could spare and all they could induce others to let them have.

Nancy's parents and friends gave their liberal support to her request for books, and a sizeable book arrived in due course. Father Adam painted a sign for the library, and the Adam boys worked on the shelves for the books and decorations to make the room look presentable. Jack Nelson, Matthew Adams, and Nancy go to the prairie home of Matthew's uncle for the ride, and after Nancy and Jack leave for home, they are caught in a blizzard. Blinded by the swirling snow they collide with a bus full of school children, which was stalled across the road with its back wheels resting in a snow-filled gully. Their car being wrecked, Jack and Nancy stay with the children and do all they can to help. The next morning Jack sets out for help in the blizzard. He succeeds in finding help, and the party of children and Nancy are rescued. As a result of the exposure Nancy's feet are badly frozen and Jack is seriously ill with pneumonia, but both of them recover.

Now Go On With The Story

"The same, lady—or one branch of it anyway; and after last night's rain the brooks and rivers will be full. You'll lose your mind over the road ahead, Nancy."

Mark was right. They followed a mountain stream bordered by giant firs and quaking aspens. The mountains were green here, more friendly, observed Nancy. "More like New England." And after a camp-fire lunch, with the historic Platte rippling peacefully at their feet, Cousin Columbine told some of the old tales which never failed to stir her audience.

"When we get home," Jack prophesied, watching his sister's rapt countenance with some amusement, "Nancy will bore all her friends with stories of pioneer days in Colorado, and storm the library for literature on the subject."

Father Adam looked up with a smile. "In that case, I've a little book by a young Englishman which I'll present to you, Nancy. It's worth reading."

"You mean the fellow who landed at Vera Cruz, came up through Mexico and camped for a time at South Park—Bayou Salade, they called it then?" asked Matthew.

His father nodded, and went on: "It wish I could recall something one of our western poets wrote about him. It says:

"Alone through dusk he sat—
Safe in Bayou Salade above the Platte,
Safe from the rumbling dust to Sante Fe,
Cool in the woven spruce that
Breathed never-tall was good
—cedar wood.
Was sweet in slapping, snapping,
crackling bright—
Alone, the boy, Bayou Salade,
and Night."

"While good Panchoito browsed among the sage Beyond the picket fire, it was an age
Of picket fires,
Breathed never-tall was good
Better than dripping hum-pib,
—cedar wood.
Was sweet in slapping, snapping,
crackling bright—
Alone, the boy, Bayou Salade,
and Night."

There followed a moment of appreciative silence as Matt ceased speaking. Then Luke exclaimed with admiration: "Gee! brother how'd you ever remember that?"—while Nancy, realizing that with this honest praise Matthew's self-consciousness had returned again, tactfully drew attention away from him by asking:

"Did any of those old, old Spanish expeditions come this way?"
"I couldn't say, my dear," responded Cousin Columbine. "They may possibly have passed near Pine Ridge, though that, I believe, has not been proved."

And no one dreamed that the girl who sat there, lost to the present in visions of other days, was to discover what looked astonishingly like the missing proof.

CHAPTER XXIII.

It was on the fourth of July when Jack announced at breakfast that with their departure only two days away, the time had come to tackle the sagging gate posts.
"You can't put me off another hour," he insisted (when the old lady said: "Bother those posts, Jack. Don't waste your strength on 'em"). "I'm two pounds heavier than before the blizzard, Cousin Columbine, thanks to these lazy days and Aurora's cooking; and those posts give me the heebie-jeebies. If there were time I'd paint the house for you too."

"You may have that to look forward to when we come again!" she responded, endeavoring to speak briskly. "I hope your father will consider John Adam's offer of a job for the winter, Jack, and send you back to us. As for Nancy—I don't dare think how still the house will seem without her. I felt like a lost soul the days you stayed at Prairie Ranch."

For the visit to "Uncle Tom's" was over—three days that had softened the memory of those cruel, windswept plains, leaving instead a vision of flower-dappled prairie.

"If it weren't for this stack of newspapers and letters," Nancy confessed the day she stowed them in her trunk, "that whole ghastly experience would seem a dream!"
"A nightmare, I'd call it," corrected Aurora. "Victor Tubbs says I lost ten pounds during that blizzard; and as for Miss Columbine, she'll never be the same woman again. It's my opinion that if Eve and John Adam hadn't took their lives in their hands and drove down here to keep her company, she'd have lost her mind."

"And it's my opinion," retorted Miss Columbine, who had come in unobserved, "that you were in a lot more danger of losing yours! Don't talk nonsense, Aurora Tubbs."

Nancy laughed at the time, even though something told her that in a measure Aurora was right. One pays toll for hours like those, and Cousin Columbine had not escaped. The old lady was a shade less brisk, less energetic; and Nancy hated to think how lonely she would be when left with only Aurora Tubbs for company.

"If I were twins, or could be in two places at once," she confided in General Grant as she undressed one night, "it would solve the difficulty. What's the use of being a great general, anyway, if you're incapable of advising me, Ulysses S.?"
But if the General saw a solution of the problem, he kept it to himself; and the days passed with Cousin Columbine looking a bit grim when she thought no one noticed, and Matthew Adam losing his appetite to an extent that alarmed his troubled mother. And now tickets and reservations were ordered. Mary Taylor had promised (with Luke's assistance) to watch over the Aladdin Library; and Nancy was conscious of a new sensation, something she ascribed to herself as "a sinking feeling down inside," each time she caught a glimpse of the unasked question hovering mutely, hopelessly, in Matthew's expressive eyes.

Anticipating Death

Right of Person To Take His Own Life in Certain Circumstances

The right of a person to take his own life, in certain circumstances, would be legalized under a bill prepared by Lord Moynihan, a past president of the Royal College of Surgeons, it was reported in London. Suicide is now a "crime" in English law. Certain members of the clergy are said to regard Lord Moynihan's project favorably.

Under Lord Moynihan's plans, a person afflicted with a painful and incurable disease could request his attending physician for the privilege of "anticipating death" by euthanasia, or painless killing, to be performed under the direction of the physician.

Such a request would have to be accompanied by a sworn statement to the effect that the doomed person's affairs were in order.

Accidental Discovery

Explosive Discovered Valuable Because Of Cheap Chemical Ingredients

Discovery of a new explosive of "high shattering power" in the remnants of a laboratory experiment which "went wrong" was announced by Professor A. T. Bowden, head of the College of the Pacific Chemistry Department at Stockton, Calif.

The explosive, Professor Bowden said, might prove of considerable commercial value because of its cheap chemical ingredients. Last year, he said, a minor classroom explosion resulted from an experiment which had been performed successfully hundreds of times before. Seeking conditions causing the blast, Professor Bowden and a group of students made the discovery.

Valuable Bowler Hat

Impressed by the bowler hats worn by distinguished Englishmen, the King of Cambodia, in French Indo-China, has ordered a state bowler. Trimmed with jewels with a magnificent clasp of brilliants worn as a cockade the crown bowler is preserved for exceptional occasions. It is stated that the hat has cost £4,000.

Mrs. Peck—Now, Henry, what are you thinking about? I can always tell when you have some thought that you are trying to conceal from me. Out with it!
Henry—I was just wondering what the Mormons could see in polygamy.

The Tallest Soldier

The tallest soldier in the French army is causing the French war ministry trouble. Robert Thierry, aged 20, is six feet six inches tall and joined the 10th Colonial Artillery Regiment. When he arrived, a special uniform had to be made for him. He is complaining now that his bed is not long enough to sleep in comfortably. A special one will have to be made.

COLIN GROFF

The newspapermen throughout Alberta will keenly regret the closing of the Publicity Department of the Alberta Government, of which Mr. Colin Groff has been the head for the past seven or eight years.

That this department should be wiped out is in our opinion a serious mistake on the part of the government and will manifest itself in the tourist traffic to Alberta next summer.

The Publicity Department of any organization is a most important one and we feel satisfied that the Government of Alberta will soon be brought to realize this.

In Mr. Groff the government of Alberta had one of the outstanding publicity men of Canada, a man of marked ability as a writer and a keen appreciation of what served the best interest of the province in his field of endeavor.—Innisfail Province.

A MAN'S PRAYER

Teach me that sixty minutes makes an hour, sixteen ounces a pound, and one hundred cents a dollar. Help me so to live that I can lie down at night with a clear conscience and untroubled by the faces of those to whom I have brought pain.

Grant that I may earn my meal ticket on the square, and that in the morning I may do unto others as I would have them do unto me. Deafen me to the jungle of tainted money and blind me to the faults of the other fellow; but reveal to me my own.

Guide me, so that each night when I look across the dinner table at my wife, who has been a blessing to me, I will have nothing to conceal.

Keep me young enough to laugh with little children and sympathetic enough to be considerate of old age. Then when comes the day of darkened shades and the smell of flowers, make the ceremony short and the epitaph simple: "Here Lies a Man."

Speaking of the world tour of Lord Baden-Powell and herself, which concluded with their visit to Canada, Lady Baden-Powell mentioned their stay in Java, and added: "I might say there isn't a poor person in all of Java. Of course the native diet is frugal—a handful of rice and a couple of bananas is sufficient each day. But we could learn a lot from the attitude of these eastern people. Their kindness, their friendly spirit and their goodness shine from their eyes."

Engineer From Rocky Mountains Becomes Deputy Minister of Interior

Keen outdoor man, enthusiastic member, and a past president of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, and a leading stalwart in the ranks of the Trail Riders, J. M. Wardle, chief engineer, National Parks of Canada, has won well deserved promotion to the post of deputy minister of the Department of the Interior at Ottawa.

Although only in his "forties," Mr. Wardle has been rated as one of the most efficient officers of the Department of the Interior for many years. He was born in Chilliwack, British Columbia, on June 25th, 1888, receiving his education at New Westminster, B.C., and Queen's University, Kingston, where he graduated with the degree of bachelor of science. Mr. Wardle joined the Department of the Interior in 1913, and was appointed superintendent of Banff National Park in 1915, continuing in that office until 1920, when he was transferred to Ottawa as engineer in charge of National Parks construction. He was given the post of chief engineer in 1924.

An expert on mountain highway construction, Mr. Wardle has supervised the building of practically all main highways in the National Parks of Canada. Under his direction the Banff-Windermere Highway, the first motor road across the Central Rockies, was completed in 1925.

and in 1927 the road known as the Kicking Horse Trail, from Lake Louise, Alberta, to Golden, British Columbia, was also completed. He has supervised the building of the "east leg" of the Big Bend highway along the Columbia River from Donald, B.C., to Boat Encampment, and recently was placed in charge of the construction of the "west leg" from Revelstoke, B.C., north to Boat Encampment. This highway when completed will form the final link in the western section of the trans-Canada highway.

The latest highway project to come under Mr. Wardle's supervision was the road now under construction from Lake Louise to Jasper, Alberta. Mr. Wardle has also had charge of all other construction work in the National Parks. He takes over his new duties with the best wishes of his many friends in the Rockies, and, indeed, throughout Canada.

Here and There

Our vanishing wildernesses have for some time elicited the concern of conservationists, but now science is beseeching our solicitude in behalf of some of the glaciers which bid fair to disappear within a few decades. If scorching summers succeeded by mild winters were the rule, Dr. Francis E. Matthes, of the United States Geological Survey, fears that within another 30 years Glacier National Park, Montana, may be minus its glaciers. Mount Rainier National Park, Washington, also has suffered from heat prostration. At no time within the memory of living persons has the recession of the ice rivers in these areas been so rapid as during the long-protracted hot wave of 1934. During normal winters snowfall and frigidities are wont to replace to a large degree the melting snows of summer.

Third annual competition for the most beautiful autumn-tinted Maple Leaf is announced by the Canadian Government through the Canadian Travel Bureau at Ottawa in co-operation with the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways. The prize list for the 1945 competition provides for a total of $200, of which $100 goes to the person sending in the most beautiful leaf; a second prize of $40 and a third prize of $20. In addition a prize of $20 for the leaf with largest area, and for second largest $10 will be awarded.

"Steel of Empire," the recently published work by John Murray Gibson, while really the story of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has so much of other Canadian history that it will find a permanent place as one of the outstanding contributions to the records of the Dominion. Starting with the first known arrival on our shores, a Chinaman, Hui Siem, in British Columbia at the end of the fifth century, Mr. Gibson traces the romantic growth of the Canadian Pacific, many centuries later, with a wealth of incident and detail, the author's long association with the railway having been of the utmost value.

Possessing one of the finest collections in the world of colored pictures of scenes in the heart of the Rocky Mountains, T. H. Lonsdale, of Banff, recently exhibited them to the Women's Canadian Club at an illustrated lecture at the Vancouver Hotel. The pictures included scenes of mountains, valleys, lakes and bird, animal and flower life.

Evangelina Booth, 63-year-old commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, told the story of the Army to the men and women of the Canadian Club at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, recently. "I was born in the Salvation Army," she said, "but it has never become a common thing to me. It has always been a miracle. A special audience gave her an ovation.

Keen outdoor man, enthusiastic member and past president of the Trail Riders of Canada, J. M. Wardle, chief of the Canadian National Parks of Canada, has won well-deserved promotion to the post of deputy director of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa.

Premier Dwyer, of New Brunswick, was the chief speaker recently when the City of Saint John played host at a dinner in the Admiral Beatty Hotel to New Brunswick's guests at their twenty 37th annual convention. Heavy fall raining affected attendance, but a large number were present. Under the chairmanship of William T. Griffin, of Boiestown, president of the Association, enjoyed a successful gathering.

THE BEST IS YET

The world is old but the heart is young
And the sweetest songs are yet unsung.

Earth's richest treasures are yet unsought,
Earth's bravest battles are yet un-fought.

Down deep in the earth in the blackened soil,
Shut out from the light does the miner toil;

But see at the sound of each rising blow,
How the factories hum and the hearth fires glow.

A black-browed man in a humble room.
Sits patiently—tending an ancient loom,

But see from his hands what hues arise
Of tapestry rich in Eastern dyes.

The farmer awakes with earliest light
And toils in his field from morn till night.

No king could a worthier service
yield,
For even the king is served from the field.

Then work and win, for the world is wide,
And its doors will open on every side.

Look not on the path with vain regret,
For the best things haven't happened
yet.—Selected.

To Settle An Issue

There are few people in Western Canada, and in the east as well for that matter, who will not follow with lively interest the proceedings before the Royal Commission appointed by the Saskatchewan Government to inquire into all the circumstances surrounding the "On to Ottawa" trek of relief camp strikers, which started out from Vancouver this summer and culminated in the Dominion Day rioting in Regina, in which a city police detective lost his life and scores were injured.

The inquiry, which is to be held in Regina may be regarded as an event of major importance to the whole country, in view of the fact that charges have been made public that the purpose and intent of the movement was to upset the constituted government of Canada and to impose on the country a government by unlawful means.

This has been denied by the strikers' leaders, who have insistently declared that their purpose was peaceful and inspired only with the desire to draw their grievances to the attention of the Federal government and the people in the hope that by this means these grievances would be remedied. Which is correct, the charge or the denial, the people at large have no means of knowing at the present time, but it is sincerely to be hoped that sufficient evidence will be brought before the Commission to settle the question definitely one way or the other.

The charge, of course, is a serious one, since, if true, it involves a serious threat to the democratic form of government which has been bequeathed to the people of Canada and has been carefully fostered and cherished by them since Confederation. The whole trend of the history of the country since that date has been to bulwark and strengthen that form of government which decrees that at periodic intervals the people of the country shall decide by their ballots at the polls what administrative policies they desire.

On the other hand, if there is no truth in the charge, the public is entitled to know it. During their advance through the provinces of British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan as far as Regina, the young men making their way towards Ottawa gained a measure of sympathy and support from a section of the public.

Those who assisted the lads on their trip to the capital in the belief that it was a peaceful delegation to supplicate the government to terminate certain grievances, whether those grievances were real or fancied, will want to know whether their confidence was misplaced or not. Those young men who joined the movement in a spirit of youthful adventure as the strikers progressed through the western provinces, as is alleged many of them did on the assumption that it was a peaceful and law-abiding pilgrimage, will also want to know whether they were bound on an innocent quest or were unwitting and pliable tools in the hands of a menacing leadership, as has also been alleged.

These are matters which should be cleared up definitely and finally for the sake of the peace of mind of the public generally and for the information of participants in the march and of those who sympathized with them and aided them.

There is only one way, however, for these questions to be definitely determined and that is by all those who have specific information on the movement and its motives to come forward and offer their testimony without fear or favor. Such information, no matter what it may be, provided it is reliable, will, it is safe to say, be welcomed by the Commission and the public.

It must be borne in mind that the Commission is purely a fact-finding body. It is not charged with the duty of drawing conclusions from the evidence adduced, or of making recommendations as a result of the information it receives.

The Commission's duties are confined to bringing out whatever facts they and their counsel may be able to secure and, while, no doubt, every effort will be made to gain as much information as possible, the value of the Commission's work to the public will be limited to the extent that such information is made available.

If those who have important information on the subject matter of the inquiry, neglect to bring it to the Commission's attention, to that extent the investigation will necessarily fail to fulfill its full purpose and to that degree the inquiry will be disappointing.

No matter how economically handled a Royal Commission inquiry is bound to involve considerable expenditure and it is to be hoped that those who have information of value will submit it and help the public to secure a good return for the expense entailed.

Triumph For Science

Milk Dead Cow With The AM Of Mechanical Heart

By means of an artificial heart the udder of a dead cow has been made to give milk, Dr. W. E. Petersen, University of Minnesota scientist, disclosed recently.

Dr. Petersen devised the artificial heart to aid him in studying the fat content of milk.

He said it led to a new and better test for butter fat. The new test is known as the Minnesota Babcock butter fat test, a refinement of the Babcock method, the scientist asserted. It enables creamery testers to obtain more accurate results.

Dr. Petersen said on one occasion he kept an udder "alive" for 15 hours, and milked it five times during that period. This was accomplished by prolonging circulation of blood through the gland by means of the mechanical heart and utilizing the animal's lung.

The lung also was kept active for the same length of time as the udder, he said. Both were affixed to the mechanical heart.

The mechanical heart is a revolving disc with an iron arm on each side. The arms are parallel but just out from the disc at different levels. As the disc revolves, propelled by an electric motor, the arm presses rubber tubes through which the blood flows.

This gives the same pulsating effect as the heart in a living body, Dr. Petersen said. At first efforts were made to keep the udder alive merely with the mechanical heart but the attempts were unsuccessful because the blood deteriorated from lack of oxygen.

Dr. Petersen then added a lung taken from a freshly slaughtered cow. It was inflated and deflated by an automatic air hose. Before the lung was used the blood returning from the udder would be almost black, he said. When it was circulated through the lung it came out a normal color.

To keep it at body temperature, the blood in passed through a glass coil immersed in warm water. Thirteen pounds of blood are used.

Illuminated Highways

Cars Without Lights—Traffic Signals Received By Radio

Illuminated roads, on which motor car lights would be unnecessary, were envisaged by A. T. V. Robinson, deputy secretary of the ministry of transport, at a combined session of the engineering and psychology sections of the British Association, which mainly dealt with road traffic problems.

"It may be that within the next decade, on all the most intensely trafficked roads, the approaching driver will see an oncoming vehicle, not as a couple of spots of dazzling light with a black background, but as a dark silhouette against an adequately illuminated background," he said.

The advances of recent years were still all dependent for their efficacy upon their visual perception by the driver of a road vehicle and his readiness to respond.

"The road driver of the future may hear traffic signals on his car radio set," said Mr. Robinson.

A careful driver approached a railroad; he stopped, looked and listened. All he heard was the car behind him crashing into his gas-tank.

Extensive Travelling

Journalist Covers 1,250,000 Miles, Always Going Eastward

A man has come to Durban, Natal, who is 22 days younger than any man of his age in the world. He is Mr. M. Franklin Kline. Eleven years ago he set his face to the sun and he has travelled towards it ever since, completely looping first the Northern and then the Southern Hemisphere every year. He has thus been round the world 22 times in 11 years, and, as he has always travelled east, 22 days have been clipped off his life. "I've travelled 1,250,000 miles in my life, always east," he said, "and have never grown tired of it. There are too many interesting things to see. Anyway, I guess I'm wound up now and can't stop. I'm the editor and compiler of the official guide for shipping and travellers to the principal ports of the world, which is published by the Osaka Shosen Kaisha Company, Japan. I visit all the big ports of the world every year, meet the heads of business firms and interview them. I spend all my time in ships, writing and compiling my guidebook, which is published every year. I was born in Tennessee. I came to South Africa in 1904 and found a job in the mines. When the Zulu rebellion broke out in 1905, I joined up with the Transvaal volunteers. It used to be said that in those days, 'Kline Kline became a journalist after the rebellion, and when in Japan he conceived the idea of issuing a shipping guide-book as a means of travelling round the world. This was so successful that he has continued travelling ever since."

Requests For Dionne Bowls

Premiums Have Been Given To People All Across Canada

That the Dionne quintuplets are very dear to the hearts of the people of Canada is amply demonstrated in the tremendous demands for the "Quint" souvenir bowls being given away as premiums in connection with Quaker Oats. Although the premium offer was first made only a comparatively short time ago, already literally thousands upon thousands of requests for the bowls have been received from families all over the Dominion. Requests for premiums, according to The Quaker Oats Company, come from people in every walk of life, high and low, and from both men and women, as well as children.

The premium offer of chromium bowls bearing a reproduction of the heads of the five famous babies in intaglio on the bottom, and their names carved around the rim, is being made to mark the fact that Quaker Oats was chosen by the best food experts in the country as the breakfast cereal for the children. The Dionne Quintuplets have been eating Quaker Oats regularly since their very earliest months.

Quaker Oats was chosen because of its remarkable richness in Vitamin B. Food editors of leading publications are constantly printing articles stressing the importance of this vitamin. They also recommend oatmeal because of its abundance of body-building minerals, muscle-building vitamins, and energy-making carbohydrates. So the "Quints" get bowls of Quaker Oats.

Flying Torpedo Boats

War Instrument Capable Of Sinking Biggest Battleship Afloat

Just as Germany started the naval world in 1930 with "vest-pocket" cruisers, she has again, after five years of intensive experiments, surprised the world with flying torpedo boats—variously called death boats or flying torpedo boats because of their tremendous speed and flexibility. Carrying two torpedo tubes and capable of sinking the biggest battleship afloat, these "mosquito boats" of 200 tons size reach a speed of 65 miles an hour. For defence against the giants of other navies, they rely on this terrific speed, not armament, as they dart forward under cover of smoke screens, the technique demonstrated at the Baltic naval manoeuvres.

Early erroneous reports claimed that the vest-pocket torpedo boats were manned by a crew of only five men, a "suicide crew" whose object in life would be simply to drive their little craft loaded with explosive straight into enemy battleships, taking their chance to survive by leaping aboard at the last minute. The United Press ascertained that the crew actually number 22, eight on deck, eight in the engine rooms and six officers.

'QUAKE TREMORS CAUSE DAMAGE IN EASTERN CANADA

Toronto. — An earthquake shook Canada with a rumbling shock from the head of the Great Lakes to the Bay of Fundy. Buildings were shaken, dishes knocked from tables and thousands of persons frightened so badly they rushed into the streets during the tremor that lasted from 15 seconds in some areas to a minute or more in others.

Damage was almost negligible in Canada, but a house caved in at Syracuse, N.Y., and street signs fell to the street in Plattsburgh, N.Y.

Two seismographic instruments at the Dominion observatory in Ottawa were broken by the quake's severity. Telephone communication in central Ottawa was disconnected for a time after the shocks felt about 1:05.

Frank O'Donnell of the Dominion meteorological bureau at Toronto said the tremors were the worst ever felt there.

"It must be a very severe quake somewhere," he said, adding that just north of the St. Lawrence river there is a fault in the earth structure. There were two distinct shocks in the east. The first lasted 40 seconds in some places and was followed by a brief, less pronounced tremor.

Toronto, Montreal, Saint John, N.B., Detroit, Cleveland, Washington, Boston, Albany and Fairmont, in West Virginia, all reported that buildings were swayed by the tremor. Telephone lines were out in a number of centres in upper New York state.

The quake lasted about five seconds in Toronto, causing pictures to shimmy. At Montreal it was of sufficient strength to move furniture.

Slight damage was caused at Simcoe, Ont., where brick walls in several buildings cracked. Reports from Windsor indicated the shock there was slight.

It was believed the centre of the shock was in the United States, probably in New York state.

Frightened citizens deluged the newspaper offices with calls. In nearly every part of eastern Canada the quake was strong enough to awaken the slumbering.

Despite slippery streets in Toronto, the most violent quake felt there in eight years failed to cause any traffic accidents.

Says Italy The Aggressor

Co-Author Of Kellogg-Briand Pact Denounces War Policy

St. Paul, Minn. — Frank Kellogg, former secretary of state and co-author of the Kellogg-Briand pact, declared that "the United States in common with other countries can and should designate Italy as the aggressor in its flagrant violation of the sovereignty of another nation."

He added the United States should "denounce Italy's violation of its treaty obligations and announce that it will take no step to interfere with or nullify the measures that other nations are now taking to put a stop to this war."

"What some of the American people seem to have forgotten and what the Italian people or their government seem to have entirely ignored," Kellogg said, "is that when Italy invaded Ethiopia and thus, beyond a shadow of doubt proceeded to use war, as an instrument of national policy, Italy violated a treaty with the United States and thus violated the supreme law of our land." He referred to the Kellogg-Briand pact.

Kellogg expressed the hope that "those who are considering trading with Italy . . . will have it borne home to them constantly that in supplying oil, cotton or machinery they are aiding and abetting a nation that is treating a solemn treaty as a scrap of paper."

Test Validity Of Laws

Social Legislature To Be Submitted To Supreme Court

Ottawa. — Social legislation passed at the last session of parliament will be submitted to the supreme court of Canada for a decision as to whether it is valid, said Justice Minister Mackenzie King yesterday. An effort will be made to have the court's decision on these matters ready for presentation to the Dominion-provincial conference which Mr. King hopes to have late in November.

Mr. King did not give any detail as to the particular statutes to be submitted to the supreme court but it is assumed they will include those dealing with the minimum wage, hours of labor, one day of rest in seven and the unemployment insurance act, most of which, while supported by the opposition were challenged by them on constitutional grounds.

Edmonton. — Major C. H. Douglas, reconstruction advisor to the provincial government, will not make a second visit to Alberta this year, Premier Aberhart announced. He expressed the hope it would be possible to call Major Douglas here before spring to assist the government in preparing a Social Credit plan.

As the two-year contract which the Reid government made with Major Douglas provided for a fee of $2,000 and expenses during each visit to the province not exceeding three weeks' duration, the province will be saved that additional amount if the economist does not return this year. He was last here during May of this year. Besides his $2,000 special fee for each visit, Major Douglas has a $5,000 general contract, one-half of which has been paid.

World Wheat Supply

U.S. Bureau Of Agriculture Says Stocks Much Lower

Washington. — A decrease of 240,000,000 bushels from the 1934-35 season in world supplies of wheat, excluding Russia and China, was reported by the U.S. bureau of agriculture economics.

The present world supply was reported to be 4,360,000,000 bushels, 500,000,000 bushels less than the average from 1928 to 1932.

The reduced supply was said to have resulted from smaller stocks in all major producing countries except Canada.

Woman Senator Injured

Senator Falls In Hospital With Broken Wrist

Ottawa. — Senator Iva Falls of Peterborough, Ont., second woman member of Canada's upper chamber, has been in hospital since Oct. 18, suffering from a broken wrist and a foot injury.

Dr. Stanley F. Service, her physician, said she was not seriously hurt, that she had broken only one bone in her wrist and a bone in her right foot. He said she slipped off the curb and fell.

UNITED STATES TO STRENGTHEN NEUTRAL POLICY

Washington. — President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull aimed sharp and almost simultaneous blows at United States dealings of any description with either Italy or Ethiopia.

Advancing beyond any previous point the efforts to bulwark the government's neutrality policy by discouraging trade with the belligerents, the pronouncements by the president and secretary of state carried unspoken hints that still further action might be taken.

The president, after hitting at commercial profits gained from war, declared: "According to the American government is keeping informed as to all shipments consigned for export to both belligerents."

Hull, employing stronger language than at any time past, asserted that neutrality policy was intended to "discourage dealings" with both of the warring countries and added: "I again repeat that an early peace with the restoration of normal business and normal business profits is far sounder and far preferable to temporary and risky war profits."

The pronouncement stirred considerable speculation. Some observers were of the opinion they possibly were intended to pave the way for some definite action should heavy war exports be shown.

Clearing Up Debris

Heavy Death Toll In Explosion In China

Lanchow, China. — The death toll from the arsenal explosion here Oct. 26 approached 2,000 as laborers pushed ahead in their work of clearing up debris.

Most of the bodies were found beneath the wreckage of homes demolished by the terrific blast. Many persons were apparently buried alive in the ruins.

SEEMS PRESIDENCY

Herbert Hoover, former President of the United States, is reported to be preparing to enter the forthcoming Presidential contest in the hope of defeating President Roosevelt.

Performs Before Royalty

Ecceitric Dancing Of U.S. Comedian Pleases King And Queen

London. — The eccentric dancing of Will Mahoney, United States comedian, entertained the king and queen and the rest of the audience at a royal command performance in the Palladium.

Their Majesties laughed heartily all through the act and applauded the American took a number of curtain calls. Mahoney topped his antics by playing the xylophone with his feet.

The king looked remarkably well. Queen Mary wore a pale green gown, ornamented with large palmettes, a cloak of pale green ratin and a diamond tiara with a magnificent emerald in the centre.

Floods In Honduras

115 Lives Lost And Great Property Damage

Tegucigalpa, Honduras. — Floods sweeping Honduras had taken a known death toll of 115 lives and unofficial estimates of the damage reached more than $12,000,000. Hundreds of Americans live in the flooded area, but none was known to have drowned.

As the swollen streams spread far beyond their banks in what officials believed to be the worst flood in the history of Honduras, the towns of Maranta and San Pedro Jula reported strong earth shocks were felt. Losses were estimated at more than $7,000,000.

Airliner Lands At Nelson

Lost U.S. Plane Makes Safe Landing In B.C. Town

Nelson, B.C. — A Northwestern Airlines passenger plane, out of Helena, Mont., which made its last call at Billings, Mont., and then started for Spokane, made a forced landing in a rocky field on the outskirts of Nelson. Three pilots and four passengers climbed out of the damaged ship unhurt.

The giant airliner first appeared over Nelson and circled the city at a low altitude and then headed westward. It was reported later over Tughm, five miles west of Nelson, where it circled about and then continued over Trail where it was sighted.

Returning to Nelson the machine with lights ablaze circled the city and grazed mountains as it picked out a suitable landing place.

Dropping below the pilot picked out a spot near the golf links and panicked into a rocky field. When the plane came to rest one wing rode the top of a heavy wooden fence and the body of the plane was on a stone pile.

Passengers reported the plane lost the radio beam just out of Helena in a snow storm. They drifted about attempting to pick it up without success. A northeastern wind hit the plane and they lost their bearings completely.

Alberta Liquor Prices

Increases Are Announced To Go Into Effect At Once

Edmonton. — With increases up to 25 cents on a 26-ounce bottle of scotch, 20 cents on a similar bottle of rye, 20 cents on imported gin, 10 cents on Canadian gin, 25 cents on the more costly liquors and five cents on a dozen pilsners of beer, new prices at Alberta vendors' stores will go into effect, it was announced.

The new list includes the potatoes in red ink: "Prices quoted in this list include an assessment for relief purposes."

The new list, however, shows steep reductions in the price of brandy imported in the bottle. One brand drops from $4.00 for a 26-ounce bottle to $3.30. Another brand shows a reduction from $5.65 to $5.10.

Increases in the price of wines run from five to 10 cents a bottle.

The increases go into effect following an announcement by Premier Aberhart that he hoped to raise $300,000 by this method.

ITALY MAY ARM MERCHANT SHIPS IF NECESSARY

Rome. — Premier Mussolini, in two emergency, war-like decrees, drafted Italy's womanhood to fight league sanctions and ordered a census of the mercantile marine to determine the strength of the naval reserve.

Italy's merchant ships will be armed, if necessary, said the decree. In well-informed circles belief was expressed that by this step Il Duce intended to groom his sea-power in the event of a possible war in Europe.

All shipowners and captains were told to be ready to give information about their vessels to a mixed committee from the navy, war and communications departments.

Those ships designed as naval auxiliaries will "carry defensive arms" in case of war, the decree stipulated.

The decree divides the command of the entire merchant marine between government departments. The navy will be in absolute command of armed auxiliaries and the communications department may command "traffic ships" until these are needed by the navy.

To the women Il Duce entrusted the task of feeding their families on home-grown food, making exports from sanctionist countries unnecessary. War mothers and widows were chosen to direct the "house by house" organization. By this Il Duce wanted the allied countries of the Great War to realize their sanctions are striking at the families who fought for them.

An official spokesman, at the same time, called sanctions an "inhuman" attack on Italy's civil population. "Our army will not be seriously affected," he said.

The national army of women will be directed by Il Duce himself, through the Fascist party. An official announcement called it a "house by house organization of defence reprisals against sanctions." Reprisals, although they were not specified, were understood to be a refusal to buy products from "enemy" sanctionist countries.

WILL DETERMINE THE VALIDITY OF ENACTMENTS

Ottawa. — Submission of legislation to the supreme court of Canada, as announced earlier by Prime Minister King, will be much wider in scope than previously expected, it was learned here.

In addition to the measures respecting working hours and wages arising from draft conventions of the international labor office, the reference will also include employment and social insurance, legislation adopted to carry out the recommendations of the royal commission on price spread and mass buying and the Marketing Act.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, stated the reference will ask "certain questions which have been raised regarding the validity" of the following acts:

The Employment and Social Insurance Act, the Dominion Trade and Industry Act, the Natural Products Marketing Act (1934) and amendments, an act to amend the criminal code section nine, the Minimum Wages Act, the limitation of Hours of Work Act and the Weekly Day of Rest in Industrial Undertakings Act.

The reference to the supreme court will be made immediately, Mr. Lapointe said, and the government hoped an answer might be ready for consideration at the Dominion-provincial conference to be held later in November or early in December.

The Employment and Social Insurance Act was already gone into operation with a committee set up under the chairmanship of Hon. G. S. Harrington, former premier of Nova Scotia. Work has not yet proceeded to the stage where employers and employees would make contributions to the insurance fund.

The tariff board, of which George Sedgewick is chairman, was constituted the commission to administer the Dominion Trade and Industry Act in its initial stages and no additional staff was appointed.

Wheat Situation

Denial Of Rumors That Government Will Sell At Sacrifice Prices

Ottawa. — Denial of rumors the government intended to force Canadian wheat on the markets even at sacrifice prices followed the first meeting of the cabinet committee to deal with the wheat situation.

Hon. W. D. Euler, minister of trade and commerce and chairman of the wheat committee, issued the following statement: "There are rumors abroad the government intends to direct that the wheat now held by the wheat board be sold, even at sacrifice prices. The rumors are entirely without foundation. Under the law the board headed by Mr. McFarland (John I. McFarland) has full authority with regard to the selling policy."

Members of the committee which in addition to Mr. Euler, include Finance Minister Dunning and Hon. James Gardiner, minister of agriculture, declined to amplify the statement. It is believed the denial was prompted by representations from Winnipeg to the committee that the uncertainty of the situation was having a depressing effect on the market.

Canadian High Commissioner

Hon. Vincent Massey Has Been Appointed To London

Ottawa. — Hon. Vincent Massey, who was Canadian high commissioner in London for a brief period in 1930, has again been appointed to that post, Prime Minister King announced. Mr. Massey's appointment will take effect Nov. 1. The government having accepted the resignation of Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, present high commissioner, as effective on that date.

The prime minister had already intimated he would send Mr. Massey to the London office. Mr. Ferguson forwarded his resignation a few days ago but, after an exchange of communications with Mr. King, agreed to remain at his post until it would be possible for the government to relieve him.

Relief And Unemployment

Ottawa. — "The new government's policy with regard to unemployment relief cannot wait possibly be announced within a few days. Defence Minister Mackenzie said the whole subject was now being studied. The government's decision would be made known after examination of all phases of the unemployment situation."
